DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (If known) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This three story, three bay wide house with side hall is constructed of brick and rests on a brownstone base. Its facade is the mirror image of that of its northern neighbor (see 1118 St. Paul Street). The basement is accessible from a sunken entranceway. A door and window with 24 lights are set into the foundation stone. A broad stone stairway leads to a deeply recessed main entrance, which is framed in flat brownstone with a curved lintel. The frame has chamfered edges, and a cartouche at the keystone is the most stylized element of the building. All windows are double-hung with 4/4 lights, crowned with flat brick arches, and relieved with stone sills, but the first story windows are taller, in scale with the entrance. A broad wooden cornice with a row of brackets adorns the roofline. A closely-set pair of brackets at one end signals that the house has the reverse plan of that of 1118 St. Paul Street.
